The Big Family in the Little House

Once there was a man named Vladimir. He had a big family and he lived in a small house. He wasn't very happy.

One day he went to town. He talked to a wise woman.

"Please help me," he said. "My wife and I have six children. We live in a very small house. Eight people in a few rooms! We can't live this way!" The wise woman listened. She closed her eyes for a minute. Then she asked, "How many animals do you have?" "We have eight animals. We have a horse, a cow, two pigs, and four chickens," said Vladimir. "Good. Go home now," said the wise woman. "Take all your animals into the house with you." "In the house!" said Vladimir. But he went home and did what the wise woman told him.

The next week, he went back to the wise woman.

"This is terrible!" he said. "The animals eat our food. They fill all the rooms. They sleep in our beds." The wise woman closed her eyes again. Then she told Vladimir, "Now go home. Take the animals out of the house." Vladimir went home and took the animals out of the house.

The next day, he went back to the wise woman. This time he was happy.

"Thank you, thank you," he said. "It's very different without the animals. Now we can eat and sleep. Now we like our house. Thank you for your help. You are a very wise woman!"
